State of the art possibilities

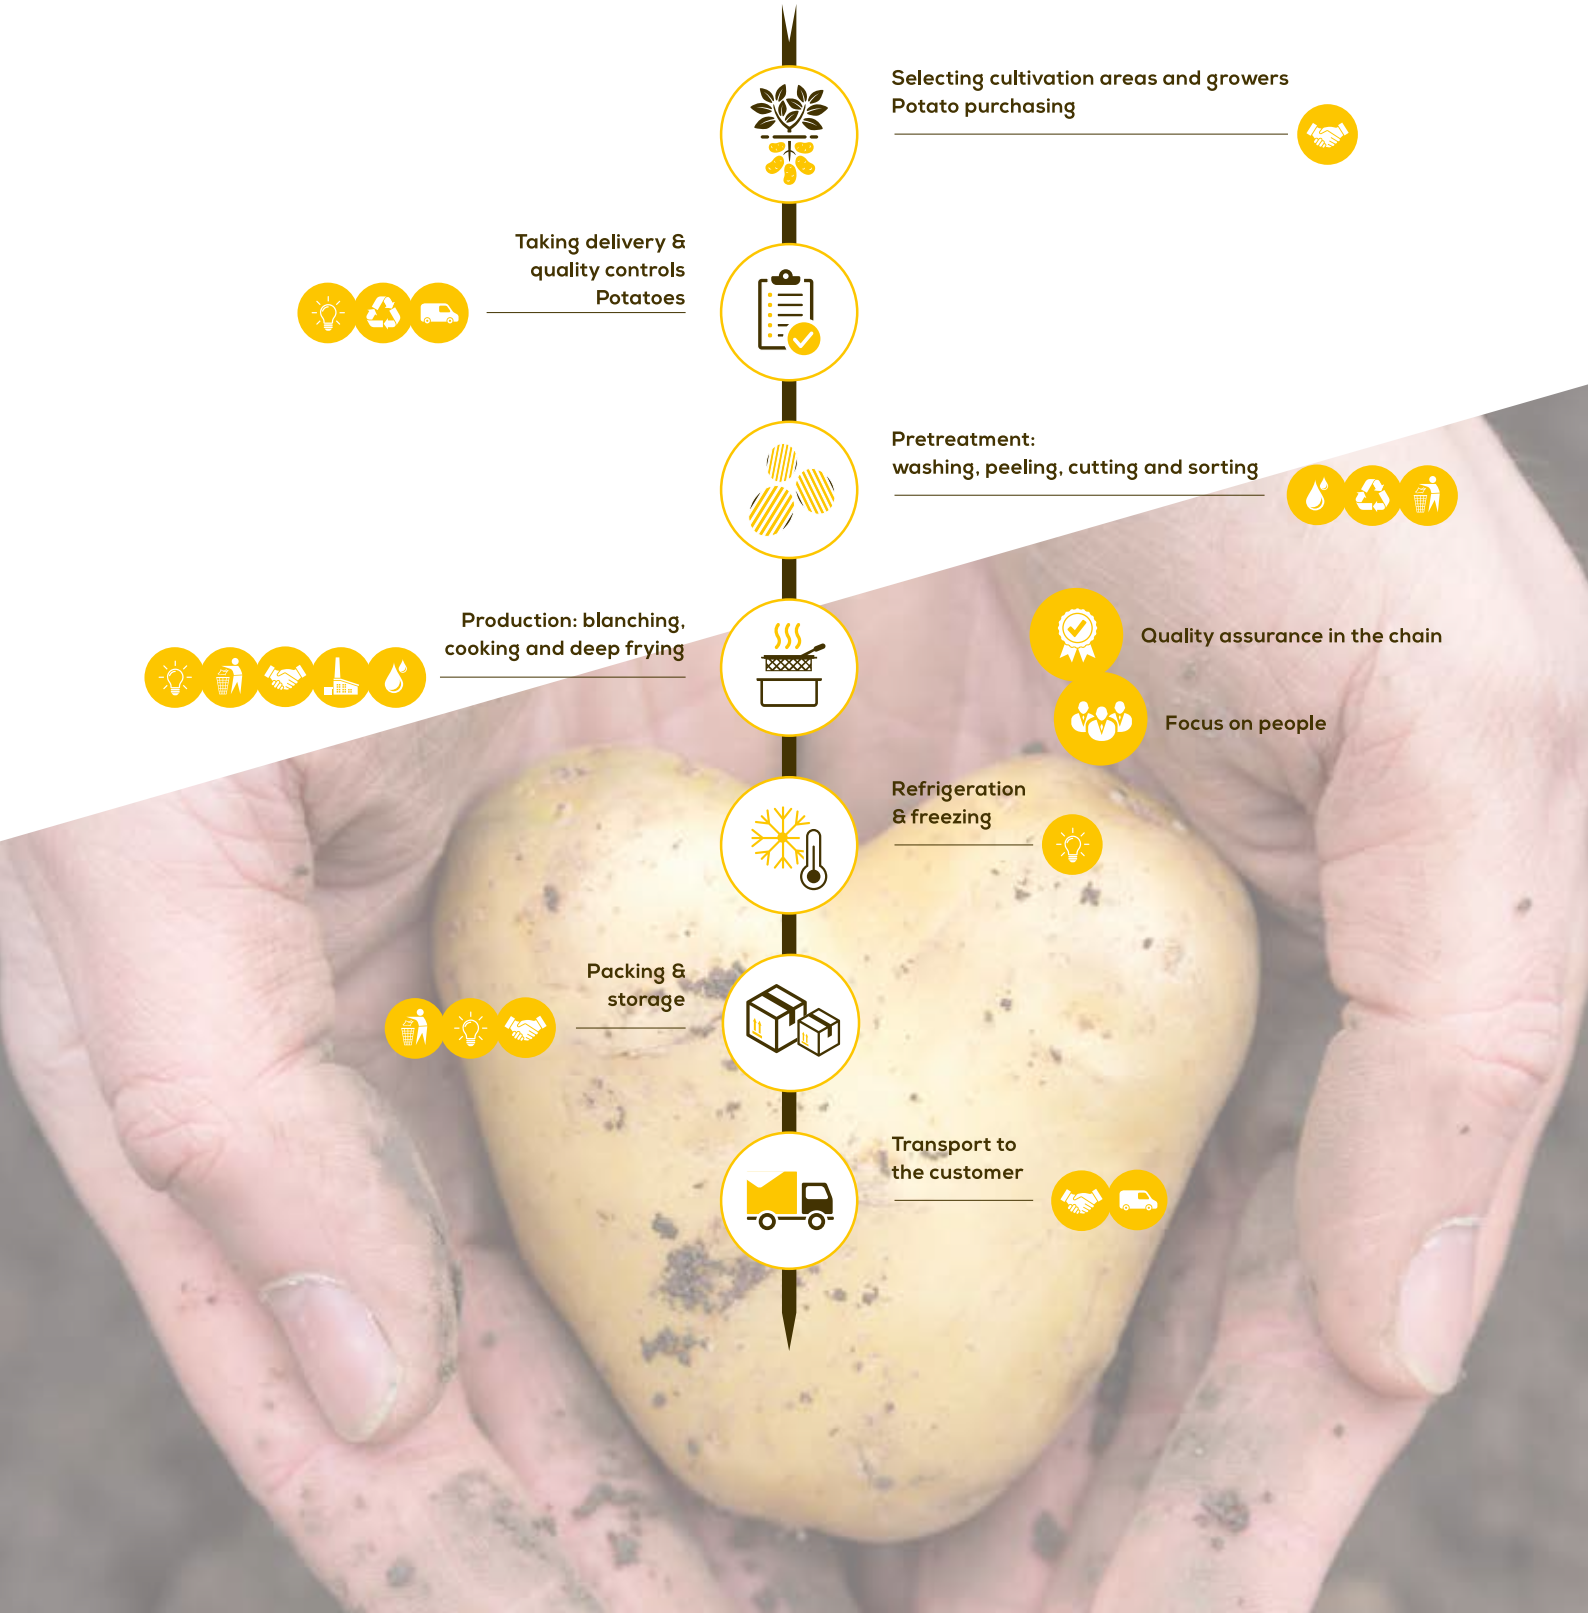

Our value chain

Our activities have an impact on the environment in which we operate. To build a sustainable future, we need to do more than merely reduce our own impact. That is why we make changes in every part of our value chain, from grower to consumer. The figure below shows the main themes that we focus on.

We know first-hand what kind of DPF your process needs to ensure the highest-quality end products for your customers

SINCE POTATOES ARE OUR BASIC INGREDIENT, WE DIRECTLY DEPEND ON NATURE. THAT'S WHY TAKING CARE OF THE ENVIRONMENT IS ONE OF OUR MAJOR CONCERNS.

Our strength, your guarantee

LOCAL FARMERS

In order to maintain a perfect feel for the potatoes we use, we only work with specially selected growers from Belgium, the Netherlands and France. That's why we can guarantee that our state-of-the-art and virtually fully automated equipment only processes the very best nature has to offer. Human handling of the potatoes is minimised where possible.

QUALITY

We pay particular attention to our ingredients and food safety. The quality and traceability of our products are two of our major concerns. By optimizing the supply chain, we can maximize the quality of our product.

RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT

R&D greatly helps us develop the perfect potato-based meal. It is our important investments in R&D that are making the difference between 'yum, nice' and 'wow, can I have some more, please?'

Our quality system is structured and administrated according to HACCP, BRC and IFS standards
Strict hygiene measures apply in all our plants and we have:

These certificates and the many quality controls in every step of the production process, from raw materials to shipping, prove that quality is not merely a promise. We also guarantee full traceability from the fork to the field. As a result, Agristo is able to offer strong guarantees in terms of food safety and traceability, and a very high quality.

Product integrity, too, is now also part of BRC and IFS standards. For this, we have set up a preventive system aimed at preventing food fraud. For Agristo, it is important to purchase raw materials from reliable suppliers so that the supply chain/origin is transparent. In addition, advanced detection techniques – based, among other things, on DNA analysis – are also used to detect food fraud.
